Art and Merchandising

It is of interest that the National Academy held its first public exhibition at Reade Street and Broadway in 1826, the same year that Messrs. Lord and Taylor displayed their first wares to the New York public at their store in Catherine Street.

The merchandise now in our store, and the conditions under which we are able to present it, differ as much from those primitive days of 1826 as the present exhibit of the Academy differs from the first one at Reade Street.

Art—the art of the craftsman, the designer, the decorator,—is reflected at every turn in the modern store; and as a factor in our daily life we now place beauty only a little way below utility.

New York visitors who are friends of the arts always find the mural decorations on the first floor an attractive feature of our store. In a series of seventeen panels encircling the room, Mr. Arthur Covey has depicted the evolution of the arts entering into the manufacture and distribution of merchandise, from the days of the Caravan and the Oriental Bazaar to the present.

Visitors are always cordially welcomed

An exquisite decorative panel of flowers and fruit, painted by Mrs. Du Bois, in soft mellow tones. Frame of antique gold finish. Price $150.00

The Three Essentials

1. To sense that a certain spot in your home or your studio needs a certain something in order to make it at once an interesting and a "liveable" composition.

2. To be able to decide whether that something is a bit of decorative crystal, or china, or polychrome, or Sheffield, or a handsome mirror.

3. To know where you can find it at a reasonable price and then turn unerringly toward "The Gift Shop of Fifth Avenue"

The Architectural Influence in Furniture

TAKING a leaf from the book of Tudor England, the clever architect of today endows his country house with even the atmnsphere bestowed by age upon its prototype.

¶ With like fidelity to the best traditions of their art, the skilled cabinetmakers of this establishment infuse their reproductions of historic Furniture with the very spirit of olden times. Thus, in each piece all the charm of the original is preserved in a manner admirably befitting the architectural background of which it is destined to become a part.

¶ The gathering together of such Furniture is in itself a pleasure — heightened, at these Galleries, by the fact that its possession may be realized at no prohibitive cost.

De luxe prints of attractive interiors, simple or elaborate as desired, gratis upon request.

On April 7th, 1906, the National Academy of Design and the Society of American Artists were united

THE FOUNDERS

On the 8th of November, 1825, a number of young Artists and Students established the New York Drawing Association; and soon after, on the 19th of January, 1826, they resolved themselves into a new organization, to be known as the National Academy of the Arts of Design. They thereupon chose from their number fifteen artists, who were directed to choose fifteen others, the thirty thus selected to constitute the new society. Of this body of Founders of the National Academy of Design whose names are here recorded, the last survivor, Thomas S. Cummings, N.A., who was for many years the Treasurer, and at one time the Vice-President of the Academy, died September 25, 1894.

The STEINWAY PIANO

stands unapproached in any of the cardinal and essential features which endear it to the artist and the music-loving public the wide world over. It is a glorious masterpiece in power, sonority, singing quality and perfect harmonic effects. Its sound volume is overwhelming, its sound qualities are bewitching and entrancing beyond measure and beyond praise—they are the marvel of performer and listener alike. With all, THE STEINWAY PIANO has no equal for endurance; it will far outlast any other piano. And, what is more, its price is but little higher than the price of other good pianos.

HARDMAN

A Great Artist
A Great Piano

Like many of his confreres in the Metropolitan Opera Company (of which the Hardman, by the way, is the official piano) Caruso has made choice among the world's greatest pianos of the Hardman for his own use in his own home.

He writes of it:

"The Hardman is the only piano I have used in my apartment in New York. I also have one in my home in Florence, Italy. The Hardman is my favorite."

Of the Autotone, the perfect Player-Piano, Caruso is equally laudatory.

He says:

"The Autotone is the first and only Player-Piano which I have purchased for my individual use."

Why not follow Caruso's example?

The National Academy of Design maintains free schools to further the arts of design.

The Schools afford exceptional opportunities for thorough academic training to those intending to become professional painters, sculptors, or illustrators.

From the corps of distinguished artists who are instructors at the Academy each student may select his own instructor. None but those intending to become professional artists are admitted. The School for Men and the School for Women are separate.

The Schools are in session from September 27th, 1920, to April 30th, 1921, Sundays and holidays excepted, from 9 a. m. to 12 m., and from 1 to 4 p. m. Evening classes from 7 to 10. Over one thousand dollars awarded annually in Scholarships and Prizes.

On April 7th, 1906, the National Academy of Design and the Society of American Artists were united

THE FOUNDERS

On the 8th of November, 1825, a number of young Artists and Students established the New York Drawing Association; and soon after, on the 19th of January, 1826, they resolved themselves into a new organization, to be known as the National Academy of the Arts of Design. They thereupon chose from their number fifteen artists, who were directed to choose fifteen others, the thirty thus selected to constitute the new society. Of this body of Founders of the National Academy of Design whose names are here recorded, the last survivor, Thomas S. Cummings, N.A., who was for many years the Treasurer, and at one time the Vice-President of the Academy, died September 25, 1894.

Art and Merchandising

IT is of interest that the National Academy held its first public exhibition at Reade Street and Broadway in 1826, the same year that Messrs. Lord and Taylor displayed their first wares to the New York public at their store in Catherine Street.

The merchandise now in our store, and the conditions under which we are able to present it, differ as much from those primitive days of 1826 as the present exhibit of the Academy differs from the first one at Reade Street.

Art—the art of the craftsman, the designer, the decorator,—is reflected at every turn in the modern store; and as a factor in our daily life we now place beauty only a little way below utility.

New York visitors who are friends of the arts always find the mural decorations on the first floor an attractive feature of our store. In a series of seventeen panels encircling the room, Mr. Arthur Covey has depicted the evolution of the arts entering into the manufacture and distribution of merchandise, from the days of the Caravan and the Oriental Bazaar to the present.

Visitors are always cordially welcomed

AUCTIONEERS and APPRAISERS

FIFTH AVENUE AUCTION ROOMS, Inc.

GALLERIES:
333-341 FOURTH AVENUE, at 25th Street
NEW YORK

OUR Auction Sales held weekly provide a means for others to buy what you do not want and for you to buy what others do not want.

No method of buying or selling is more satisfactory than an honest Public Auction and that is our business.

The thirty years our Galleries have been before the public have made them a landmark in the auction world.

On an average, we sell each week consignments from between 30 to 35 owners and the average number of buyers at each sale is close to 100.

Visit our Galleries during an Exhibition—attend one of our sales. If you have never been to one of our Sales, you will be impressed to see the rare designs and fine grade of goods that are offered, the high character of people who attend and the courtesy and fairness with which the business is conducted.

If you have any fine furnishings, art works or jewels to be disposed of, we would like to consult with you about using our services or, if you are interested in buying, we would be glad to put your name on our mailing list to receive announcements of sale.

Our return for goods sold is made within ten days after date of sale. In thirty years we have never violated this agreement.

WALLACE H. DAY,
General Manager and Auctioneer.

When you think of buying a diamond, your first thought is of a reliable dealer whose name has become a trade mark for QUALITY. Why should the same not apply when you think of buying a dog? A DOG from the time of his introduction into your home becomes one of the family and therefore should be a dog with QUALITY and INDIVIDUAL CHARACTER and MANNERS.

The STEINWAY PIANO

stands unapproached in any of the cardinal and essential features which endear it to the artist and the music-loving public the wide world over. It is a glorious masterpiece in power, sonority, singing quality and perfect harmonic effects. Its sound volume is overwhelming, its sound qualities are bewitching and entrancing beyond measure and beyond praise—they are the marvel of performer and listener alike. Withal, THE STEINWAY PIANO has no equal for endurance; it will far outlast any other piano. And, what is more, its price is but little higher than the price of other good pianos.

Masury's Artists' Colors

American made colors that produce the same tints as the best English tube paints. Perfectly ground, absolutely free from all foreign substances and invariably uniform in strength and shade. ¶ Childe Hassam, great American painter, says: "The colors you sent me I found most excellent. I take pleasure in recommending them in all particulars"
